CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman s Drops, Godfrey s Cordial many so-called Soothing Syrups and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr Samuel Pitcher That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing They are facts,

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Meeting of Republican National Committee.

A Significant Decision in a Contested Election Case.

The Supporters of McKinley in Majority and Seat Delegates.

Mr. Manley Concedes Nomination of Maj. McKinley on First Ballot.

He States that Mr. Reed's Name Will go Before the Convention

And that Majority of New England Delegates will Remain Loyal.

Insists that Speaker Will Not Accept Nomination of Vice-President.

ST LOUIS, June 10 Despite the assurances of the citizens committee of arrangements that ample accommodations will be placed at the command of the colored delegates and their associates the National Committee is to be requested to look into the situation and to appoint a sub-committee with instructions to report not later than noon to morrow Three resolutions to this effect have been drawn and one or more will be submitted just as soon as the roll of the committeemen present has been called The champions of the colored men are Judge Long of Florida, Senator Carey, of Wyoming, and Wm M Hahn, of Ohio The Florida committeeman is in a position to give the committee a chapter of personal experiences for on Monday and yesterday he tramped for hours seeking headquarters for the proposed visitors only to admit that he had been baffled at every turn

One leading hotel, recognizing the gravity of the situation, offered to set aside a portion of one of its wings for the entertainment of the full corps of colored delegates, to give them a separate entrance and to serve meals in the rooms, but when this agreement came to the ears of the waiters there was a vigorous protest and negotiations were declared off

While most of the national committee men on the ground are chary of expressing themselves in advance of the meeting, there is an impression abroad that the body may refuse to take cognizance of the matter on the ground that it is out of its province and belongs exclusively to the jurisdiction of the local committee

In this event Judge Long will submit a resolution setting forth that in as much as it is evident that some of the delegates cannot secure accommodations in St Louis it is both necessary and advisable that the convention be held in another city This, it is thought, would have an immediate effect toward settling the difficulty

First Session of Republican National Committee

The first session of the Republican National Committee lasted less than an hour Chairman Carter called the members to order at 12 15 in the room of the Southern Secretary Manley called the roll Indian Territory failed to respond Senator Gear was proxy for James S Clarkson of Iowa, from whom a telegram saying he had been taken ill at Philadelphia while en route and might not be able to get here at any stage of the proceedings, was received

The list of contests was read

At this stage R C Kerens of this city submitted a resolution providing for the presence at secret meetings of the committee of representatives of each of the two press associations This was an infringement of the established precedent of the body Delegate Isaac Trumbo, of Salt Lake, supported it in a few vigorous remarks and it went through unanimously

A motion to take up the question of territorial representation was ruled out by the chair on the ground that territories must be reached in the proper order and it was then decided to take up the contests beginning with Alabama, this afternoon, and a recess was taken until 2 P M

By a vote of 38 to 6 the national committee seated the Buckley, or the "McKinley" delegation at large from Alabama, as against the delegation headed by ex Gov Smith Those voting for the Smith delegation were Connecticut, Louisiana, Iowa, Massachusetts, New York and District of Columbia Secretary Manley afterwards said he should be recorded as voting with the minority, which would make the result 38 to 7

Powell Clayton made a motion seating the Buckley delegates and the result was a victory for the McKinley element The contesting delegation of the sixth Alabama district announced that they withdrew the protest This allows the McKinley delegates—Daniel Cooper and Isaac Dawson—seats without a protest

As the committeemen were dispersing Mr Manley announced he had received a large number of dispatches from different parts of the country urging that on account of the lack of courtesy accorded colored delegates, the convention be held elsewhere He added that while he could not speak for other hotels he was authorized by the manager of The Southern to say he would carry out his contract by receiving and entertaining every delegate who had reserved accommodations in the house, no matter what his color This was received with applause. No other reference to the trouble was made.

A Suggested Monetary Plank

Each member of the national committee and leading delegate on the ground was furnished this afternoon with the suggested monetary plank for the platform drawn up by R C. Kerens. It reads

"We believe our money should not be inferior to the money of the most enlightened nations of the earth and we are unalterably opposed to every scheme that threatens to debase or depreciate our present monetary standard. We favor a reasonable use of silver as currency, but such use should be to an extent only and under such well defined regulations that its parity with gold as currency can be easily and efficiently maintained. As consistent bi-metallists we are opposed to the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, as a measure fraught with certain disaster to all commercial interests, destructive to the interest of the wage earner and in the absence of international agreement sure to lead to silver mono-metallism "

A Point for McKinley.

The decision of the Republican National Committee to hear the statement of the contestees in full meeting instead of referring to a sub-committee the contests from the respective States concerned, is regarded as a distinct victory for Powell Clayton, representing the McKinley interest on the committee, who advocated this method of procedure

Friends of Speaker Reed Give Up the Fight

The friends of Speaker Reed have given up the fight When the national committee took a recess at six this evening, Hon Joseph Manley, of Maine, dictated to a representative of the United Press and revised it before transmission as follows

"In my judgment the convention will nominate Gov McKinley on the first ballot for the Presidency It is useless to attempt to deny that this will be the result The action of the national committee, in its overwhelming vote on the Alabama case, settled conclusively how the respective States which the members of the committee represent will vote in the convention Mr Reed s name will be presented to the convention and be will be voted for I am authorized to say that under no conditions or circumstances can he, or will he, accept the nomination for vice president if it should be tendered him The great majority of the New England delegates will be loyal to Mr Reed but it is evident that the convention is for Gov McKinley and will nominate him

Hanna Working for a Compromise in Financial Fight

Mark Hanna is already taking a hand in the financial fight and has set on foot a strong movement for a compromise This afternoon he sent for a number of the Southern delegates known to be friendly to McKinley and urged them not to push their demands for a gold plank He fears a big defection in the West and the whole power of the Ohio organization will be used from his time on to prevent the absolute overriding of the free coinage westerners

The House bill to adopt regulations for preventing collisions at sea was passed

The contempt of court bill was taken up and Mr Peffer (Pop, Kansas) addressed the Senate upon it, expressing satisfaction with the bill

Mr Butler (Pop , N C) who followed in support of the bill, arraigned the growing power of the supreme court to influence legislation He referred to the summary treatment of Debs, who was sent to prison for contempt of court in not respecting the order issued by the court to prevent strikers from interfering with the movement of trains Such power vested in the judiciary was he said a relic of old world barbarism and tyranny

Mr Platt (Rep Conn) protested against the consideration of such an important bill during the last days of Congress He said it was stated by the press that 800 000 railway employees throughout the country were watching with interest the progress of this bill in the Senate He doubted whether there was a quorum of Senators in the city and he protested against pressing this important measure at this time While he agreed that the judges should not have unlimited power to punish for contempt, the pending bill was revolutionary and should have more mature consideration

Mr Hill made a strong appeal in favor of the passage of the bill

Mr Platt (Rep Conn) moved to postpone its further consideration until the next session but subsequently withdrew the motion

An amendment offered by Mr Cannon (Rep Utah) making a jury trial obligatory and not discretionary with the judge was agreed to and the bill as amended was passed

The People's Issue.

The New York Evening Post says that the Republican politicians who talk about making the tariff the principal issue of the coming campaign, will soon get their eyes opened as to the hopelessness of such a programme. We are aware that the tariff is a very tender subject with the Democratic free trade contingent, but it will be necessary to face the music. The Republican politicians are not making the issue in this campaign. That work was done by the Democratic party when it paralyzed the industry of this country by its senseless and illogical raid on the tariff. Four years ago the Democrats did not want to talk about anything but the tariff. The great need of the country at that time, according to the Democratic prophets, was tariff reform.

The unexampled prosperity the people were then enjoying was not the child of protection, but prevailed in spite of the protection handicap. Real, substantial prosperity could only be expected after the laws of the country had been remodelled and perfected on Democratic lines. The Democrats were given full opportunity to perform the work, but it was soon learned that their campaign professions, like everything else Democratic, were not to be trusted. The party passed a tariff law only to have it denounced by the Democratic President as an inconsistent absurdity to which he refused to attach his signature. That said law was not what the party had promised the people is clearly shown by the famous letter written by Cleveland to Catchings. He said:

When the formation of legislation which it was hoped would embody Democratic ideas of tariff reform was lately entered upon by the Congress, nothing was further from my anticipation than a result which I could not promptly and enthusiastically endorse. It is therefore with a feeling of the utmost disappointment that I submit to a denial of this privilege.

The millions of our countrymen who have fought bravely and well for tariff reform, should be exhorted to continue the struggle, boldly challenging to open warfare and constantly guarding against the treachery and half-heartedness in their camp.

Tariff reform will not be settled until it is settled honestly and fairly in the interest and to the benefit of a patient and long-suffering people.

These were the views of President Cleveland as late as August, 1894. Then the tariff was the great question of supreme importance upon which the Democratic party was to wage perpetual warfare until it was settled right. Now the same President and his cuckoo followers just as strenuously insist that the tariff is not an issue, notwithstanding the fact that the "inconsistent absurdity" remains upon the statue books in exactly the same form as when it was so bitterly denounced by Cleveland, the Evening Post and other cuckoos. Possibly some of these interesting individuals can be induced to inform the people what it is that has wrought this radical change in their views. The country would be pleased to hear the explanation.

The currency laws concerning which our Democratic friends now have so much to say were then in operation, but still the tariff was the one great subject selected for open and constant warfare. There is of course a reason for this marked change of front on the part of the Democrats, and it is to be found in the discontent of the people. Democratic tariff reform, an unknown quantity in 1892, is now an established fact. It has crippled the industries of the country, curtailed all operations and reduced the wages of those fortunate enough to find any employment, besides practically bankrupting the United States Treasury which has only been able to meet current obligations by increasing the National debt in order to borrow capital on which to do business. This deplorable condition of affairs has made it absolutely imperative for the Democrats to seek new fields of deception. They can no longer talk tariff reform, because that bubble has been exploded and consequently have turned to the currency in a fit of desperation, although it is not just clear how they have improved their chances in this particular change of base, as it now seems to be a settled fact that the party will be committed to the silver lunacy.

The tariff, however, is bound to be the great central question in the campaign. The people have so determined. They were deluded in 1892 and know that the suffering since entailed upon them is directly traceable to that mistake. They propose to rectify it in 1896 by placing in control of the Government a party sound both on the tariff and on the currency. It is the question uppermost in the minds of the people. The Democratic papers and occasionally a Republican paper chatter about the currency as the paramount question, but go out among the people and protection and prosperity is the cry. Give the country six months of Republican protection, leaving the currency just as at present, and a man might travel from Maine to California and not hear a single reference made to the currency. We do not by any means belittle the importance of the currency question, but the central issue in the campaign is bound to be the tariff. It is a great pity to disappoint our Democratic friends, but they may as well be prepared for the inevitable.

No More Clevelandism.

The New York Herald, whose proprietor has resided abroad so long that he is inclined to support foreign institutions against our own, advocates the election of a second Cleveland. There is no question of Cleveland's popularity among foreigners. The policy of his Administration has been of a character to win applause abroad. It has revived [illegible] verse at home. The New York World got ahead of the Herald and tried to prove that Cleveland was the logical candidate of the Democratic party, but the letters of inquiry sent out flooded the mail of the World with indignant protests until it was only to glad to abandon the field. This country has suffered untold misery as a result of Clevelandism, and the suggestion of his name in connection with another term of the Presidency, or of any man holding to his general views, only shows how thoroughly the proprietor of the Herald is out of touch with the sentiment of this own country.

French Spoliation Claims.

The Philadelphia Press says: Both branches of Congress have accepted President Cleveland's veto of the general deficiency bill because of the appropriation which it contained for the payment of a little over $1,000,000 of the French spoliation claims and have passed a new deficiency bill without these claims. It is not a good year for claims because of the chronic deficiency of the revenue. It is a pity that these very long standing and unjustly-delayed spoliation claims should be the victims. President Cleveland says they are not valid claims, but the Court of Claims, to which they were referred, says, after a long and careful examination, that they are valid and ought to be paid.

The President not only opposes the judgment of the Court of Claims, but that of forty-five reports submitted to Congress and the expressed opinion of such men as John Marshall, Madison, Pickering, Clay, Clinton, Edward Livingston, Everett, Webster, Cushing, Choate and Sumner. The Court of Claims is passing on them in detail, and $1,300,000 has been paid by direction of Congress on the Court's award. We have this anomaly, that those claimants who were so fortunate as to get their claims adjudicated under Harrison's administration get their money, while a second group, who were lower down the list, and obtained their judgment in the blighting years of Grover Cleveland, find that judgment rendered fruitless by an Executive veto. They must wait. Their claims are already nearly 100 years old, but must tarry a little longer.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Second Days' Session of Chambers of Commerce Congress.

Mrs. Dyer, the Baby Murderer, Hanged at Newgate Prison.

London, June 10.—The second days' sitting of the third congress of the chambers of commerce of the empire was opened in Grocers' Hall at 10 this morning. Mr. Joseph G. Colmer, secretary to the Canadian high commissioner in London, announced that the Canadian delegates had considered the resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Featherstone Osler, of Toronto, on behalf of the board of trade of that city, and had also given consideration to the amendment thereto offered by Sir Donald A. Smith, of Montreal, Canadian high commissioner in London, with the result that they had agreed to amend Mr. Osler's resolution, so as to produce a joint Canadian resolution.

The motion made by Mr. Osler, he said, recited that it was the opinion of the congress that the advantage rising from a closer union of the empire would justify an arrangement as nearly as possible in the nature of a zollverein based upon the principles of the freest exchange of commodities within the empire consistent with tariff requirements incident to the maintenance of local government of each kingdom, dominion, province and colony now forming a part of the British family of nations.

Sir Donald Smith's amendment to this resolution had set forth that the congress records its belief in the advisability and practicability of a customs arrangement between Great Britain and her colonies and India on the basis of preferential treatment and urging that her majesty's government take steps to bring about an interchange of opinions on the subject between the mother country and the other governments of the empire.

The amendment which had been agreed upon by the Canadian delegates Mr. Colmer said, consisted of the addition of a recommendation that Her Majesty's government take steps to bring about an interchange of opinions between Great Britain and the other governments composed in the empire omitting the words "as nearly as possible in the nature of a zollverein," which were contained in Mr. Osler's motion.

Mr. Henry, delegate from Hobart, Tasmania, opposed the resolution. He thought that the British government itself ought to take the responsibility of formulating a scheme of union. Sir William Des Voeux supported Mr. Colmer's amendment. He admitted that it would be difficult for England to initiate a movement for a commerce much as the mother country was obliged to consider both the masters and the working class. He suggested the holding of a meeting of the colonial representatives apart from the English to consider the question.

Sir Albert Kaye Rollit, president of the London chamber of commerce, eventually proposed a resolution which was seconded by Mr. Osler affirming that the subject of the establishment of closer commercial relations between the United Kingdom and the colonies demands careful consideration and the congress therefore respectfully represents to Her Majesty's government that if the suggestion should be made on behalf of the colonies or some of them it would be expedient to promote such consideration and formulate some practical plan by summoning an imperial conference which would be fully representative of the interests involved, or by such other means as Her Majesty's government may be advised to adopt. The resolution was unanimously adopted amid cheers and the other resolutions on the subject were withdrawn.

Sir Donald A. Smith withdrew his amendment, remarking that Sir Albert Rollit's resolution did not ask any more than it was entitled to demand. Canada, he said, felt that free trade was impossible so long as the boundary of the United States formed a wall of protection against the Dominion.

Comments of the Press.

The Standard commenting on the proceedings of the congress of chambers of commerce expresses its sympathy with closer imperial union, but urges discussion of other expedients than such bold reconstruction of provincial system as would be involved in a zollverein. The paper says it thinks Mr. Chamberlain unduly narrowed the range of possible alternatives.

The Daily News says the zollverein would immensely advance the progress and stability of the empire. It adds that the real question is what amount of compromise with the principle of free trade would the colonies require and mother country admit as the price of advantage to be received by her.

The Chronicle opposes the zollverein and accuses Mr. Chamberlain of dallying with protection. "Nothing," it adds, "would justify Great Britain in altering her free trade policy."

The Times says: "Until the colonies make a specific offer we fear nothing can be done in the direction of the zollverein. It would rest afterward with the people of the United Kingdom whether the offer would be accepted. Until trading and industrial centres of Great Britain decidedly favor a change, the existing policy will undoubtedly be maintained."

The Pall Mall Gazette agrees with its contemporaries in the opinion that a commercial union is desirable but thinks that the establishment of a customs union is very remote declaring that it will not be reached by the present generation.

The Westminster Gazette takes a decidedly contrary view, condemning the proposal as dangerous upon the ground that a great many tories who are clamoring for protection, may succeed in palming off such a system upon the country under the guise of imperial federation.

Paid the Penalty.

London, June 10.—Mrs. Annie Dyer, the Reading baby farmer, who presumably murdered scores of infants entrusted to her care, was hanged at Newgate prison this morning.

The weather was rainy, but the crowds in the vicinity of the prison were large. When the black flag was hoisted indicating that she had paid the penalty of her crimes the crowd cheered loud and long.

Since sentenced to death Mrs. Dyer attempted twice to commit suicide in Newgate prison. Latterly she was watched day and night and was deprived of everything except her most necessary clothing, even her hair pins having been taken from her.

The woman was completely dazed when she was led to the scaffold and had to be supported by the wardresses who have had her in charge since she was sentenced to die.

Forty Suspects Arrested.

Barcelona, June 10.—The authorities are detaining in custody forty persons who have been arrested in connection with the explosion of the bomb Sunday last at the church of Santa Maria. The Correspondencia asserts that the bomb was thrown by an anarchist named Chaget, who committed outrages in obedience to orders from the anarchist group granada.

Economic Independence.

Athens, June 10.—The Cretan reform committee have formulated demand, which include economic independence of the island of Crete, the island to receive half of customs revenues which are now paid into the Turkish treasury. The committee also demand the nomination of governor of their own choice under a guarantee of powers that that official shall hold office for five years.

AN APPEAL

Sent to Secretary Olney by National Association of Cigar Makers.

New York, June 10.—Mr. Krohm, secretary of the national association of cigar manufacturers, has sent to Secretary Olney a letter with reference to tobacco embargo laid upon Cuba by Gen. Weyler. The communication affirms that if existing contracts for the delivery of leaf tobacco purchased on the Island of Cuba cannot be enforced, enormous pecuniary losses will result and great hardships entailed upon many thousands of employes in the United States.

An appeal is also made to secretary of state for protection and it is requested that such action be taken for conservation of important interests of American citizens involved as may, under circumstances, seem proper.

One morning during the last session the clerks at the speaker's desk were unable to find the house journal without the reading of which the business of the house could not be begun. The chaplain had begun his prayer and was "drifting along" when the reading clerk touched him on the arm and in an excited whisper said

"Keep on with the prayer until we find the journal. We have lost it"

The chaplain continued and a few seconds later [illegible] again nudged him recesting that he continue longer, as they were still unable to find the missing volume

"Don't stop until I tell you," he said "Keep this thing up so that we don't get into a scrape. We will find it in a minute"

The preacher continued his prayer, and the surprise of the members grew to wonder as they listened to the long continued invocation of the Rev Mr Bagby

Finally the missing book was found, and the clerk nudged the chaplain who brought his lengthy prayer to a somewhat abrupt end —Minneapolis Journal

Sources of Ivory.

African ivory is now conceded to be the finest. The first quality of this comes from near the equator and it has been remarked with regard to this fact that the nearer the equator the smaller is the elephant but the larger the tusks. The ivory from equatorial Africa is closer in the grain and has less tendency to become yellow by exposure than Indian ivory. The finest transparent African ivory is collected along the west coast between latitudes 10 degrees north and 10 degrees south and this is believed to deteriorate in quality and to be more liable to damage with increase of latitude in either direction. The whitest ivory comes from the east coast. It is considered to be in best condition when recently cut. It has then a mellow, warm transparent tint, as if soaked in oil and very little appearance of grain or texture

Indian ivory has an opaque dead white color and a tendency to become discolored. Of the Asian varieties Siam is considered to be the finest, being much superior in appearance and density. The ivory of the mammoth tusks is not very much esteemed particularly in England. It is considered too dry and brittle for elaborate work, besides which it is very liable to turn yellow. As a matter of fact the largest tusks very rarely leave Asiatic Russia, being too rotten for industrial purposes —Chambers Journal

The Managers.

Managers are an ill used race. They have a bad name, which they do not always deserve. Considering all things it is small wonder that their tempers are occasionally short. The wonder rather is that they are as good fellows as they are. I remember, in my salad days asking an actress of some experience what sort of folk managers were to deal with. "My dear," she said impressively, "they're angels if you're making money for them and they're the very devil if you aren't." However this may be, they certainly are not, as is so often represented, impervious to or jealous of rising talent. Like the equally maligned race of publishers and editors, they are quite awake to the value of a good thing when they find it. So many people dabble with the stage nowadays, with no intention of taking it up seriously, that no wonder managers are apt to be skeptical of genius in the bud — Macmillan's Magazine

100th ANNIVERSARY.

Town of Bethel Celebrates the Event Wednesday.

Elaborate Decorations, Brilliant Parade and Eloquent Speeches.

Bethel June 10 —The inhabitants of this town today fittingly celebrated the centennial of the town's incorporation. Arrangements had been made for one of the most elaborate gala days ever known in Oxford county but cloudy weather detracted somewhat from the comfort and success of the occasion. It was Bethel's third centennial. In 1874 the centennial of the settling of the town then known as Sudbury—Canada was celebrated. In 1781 last Indian raid on any New England village was made here. The centennial of that event was observed in 1881

Professional decorators were employed for the first time in Bethel for the present occasion. Every store Odeon Hall Odd Fellows block postoffice hotels and nearly every private residence in the village was bright with bunting. Arches with appropriate mottoes spanned Main and Broad streets and large flags were strung across the streets

The day opened with a sunrise salute of 45 rounds fired by a detachment of the state artillery detailed from the [illegible] Company

Surrounding communities poured their people into the little village all the forenoon until some 7 000 crowded the street. At 10 a m a grand parade was formed on Main Mechanic Elm and Railroad streets and moved in the following order: Marshal A Hastings, chief marshal, platoon of police carriage and [illegible] and trotting horses and stallions [illegible] by grooms. Bethel bicycle club, 1st Division A M True and Chandlers [illegible] of Portland, Bethel fire department, hook and ladder company, No 1 hose company, No 1 hose company volunteer [illegible] children 400 in line, Bryant's [illegible] A M Whitman Post of Bryant's Pond 25 men, Harry Rust [illegible] of Norway 20 men, Wm K Kim[illegible] Post of South Paris 15 men, Brown [illegible] of Bethel 45 men section of artillery [illegible] M Freeman command[illegible] second division H C Barker Aid [illegible] Goddess of Liberty driven by Uncle Sam [illegible] representing [illegible] of Bethel third division [illegible] of Bethel and [illegible] president in carriages [illegible] Albert W [illegible] Pond of Amesbury [illegible] Indians in full war paint [illegible] and citizens of the town in carriages

The display made by the [illegible] was particularly fine [illegible]

At the conclusion of the parade [illegible] a [illegible] the second story [illegible] the village corporation building [illegible] hose companies had two [illegible] at the [illegible] and ladder [illegible] covered the building with ladders [illegible] and the start off [illegible] exhibition of the efficiency of the Bethel fire department

A mock skirmish between Indians and [illegible] followed. Dinner was served at Rialto Hall where more than [illegible] 000 were fed

The literary exercises were held at two o'clock from a stand erected in the village square. The address of welcome was made by Judge Woodbury, president of the day who occupied less than 2 minutes in delivery

He said in part: "We extend a cordial welcome to visiting sons and daughters and the invited guests. He paid a glowing tribute to he glorious mountain scenery, farm homes, a panorama of exquisite beauty and majestic sublimity and the winding river reflecting from its crystal bosom scenes of enchantment which fill the soul with delight. To these scenes he said the stranger welcome. He spoke highly of the men and women who went west from Bethel and stood in the front ranks in their professions and [illegible]

He compared the birthdays of individuals with towns. He asserted that towns were purely Democratic while city state and national governments were representative. In the town the quiet man might find himself an orator and the self conceited man often had the conceit taken out of him

The speaker referred to the joys of childhood the enthusiasm of youth the pleasures of manhood and womanhood the disappointments and sorrows the severing of family ties and the endless procession of life. He referred to the late Dr N T True the great scientist historian and teacher whose historical address they had in their homes as well as the genealogical record by William B Lapham M D and closed by saying that the trials and hardships of the first settlers as related by these historians [illegible] us of the cost of our heritage

Capt Joseph Twitchell bought what is now Bethel Hill in 1774 for 15 pounds in silver and Jonathan Blake and Aaron Richardson bought the township for 180 pounds lawful money. In 1776 the first mill was built in 1779 the first frame house was built and there were 10 families in the town in 1781. The first census was in 1790 when there were 60 families and 324 inhabitants

The act of incorporation was passed June 10th 1796 the post office established in 1815 a post rider brought the first mail by way of Waterford consisting of one letter. Religious worship was maintained from the first

A log school house was built in 1792. Rev Mr Chapman who suggested the name of Bethel for the town was the teacher. One hundred years! What hath God brought! Behold the magnificent procession crowding the streets today! Look at our churches and school buildings! See our streets arched with silvery maple and stately elms! Look at the artistic dwelling houses our stores filled with merchandise our manufactories and our saving bank our post office and business houses our railroad stations!

Then extend your vision to our well cultivated farms with their capacious dwelling house. Then let our grateful song of thanksgiving and praise ascend from each heart to Him that the lines have fallen to us in such pleasant places and that we have so goodly a heritage."

A poem by Miss A E Herrick of Bethel was read by Hon A P Herrick. Then came short toasts with three minute replies interspersed with music. Letters of regret were read from Gov Cleaves Senator Frye Congressman Dingley Adjt. Gen Connor and others

In the evening there will be a display of fire works and a band concert, and a formal reception at Odeon Hall and the centennial ball at the Rialto

WELL KNOWN MINISTER

Death of Rev W H Eaton at Nashua, N H

Nashua N H June 10 —Rev Dr W H Eaton one of the best known Baptist ministers in the state died at his home in this city early this morning. His life was devoted to Baptist church work and he was prominent at all anniversary gatherings for years. His death was the result of an accident which happened last week when he slipped and fell and broke the bones of one leg

Since that time he had gradually failed. He was born in Goffstown N H Sept 4 1818, was a graduate of the New Hampshire Literary Institution and of Brown University and also graduated from the Newton Theological seminary in 1848

His first pastorate was in Salem Mass., in 1849 where he remained until 1854. He received a call to the First Baptist church in Nashua and was installed January 26, 1856. In 1866 and 1867 he was given a leave of absence from the pastorate of the church. During the time he raised $100,000 for Colby Academy at New London. In the last named year, Brown University conferred upon him the degree of D D, also the degree of A B and A M. Dr Eaton was dismissed from the church in Nashua at his own request Feb 1, 1870

During the remainder of that year and in 1871 he served the Newton Theological Seminary as financial agent and raised for that institution $200,000. From Sept. 1, 1871, to May 1, 1889, Dr. Eaton was the recognized pastor of the Baptist church in Keene. Here as at Salem and Nashua he rendered faithful service and made warm friends. Upon closing his ministry at Keene he returned to this city, where he retained his homestead. A widow survives him

SEVERE STORM.

Great Damage Done at Ashley, Ill.

Nashville Ills, June 10 —Ashley, Ills, was visited last night with a severe wind and hail storm which assumed almost cyclonic proportions and citizens were for a time almost terror stricken. The roof of the cooper shop of the Egyptian Mill Co was blown off and torn to atoms

Part of the roof of the public school building was carried away by the wind and telegraph and telephone poles and shade and evergreen trees were prostrated

While the storm was severe no lives were lost but damage to growing crops cannot at this time be estimated

Oakdale, a little village eleven miles southwest of this city on the line of the Centralia and Chester railroad, was also visited by a hurricane, which was accompanied with hail as large as walnuts. Many dwellings and business houses were severely damaged. Not a pane of glass was left on the west side

MUCH DISTURBED

Over Report that St Louis Has Drawn the Color Line

New York June 10 —A Chicago special says Cook county Republican leaders are much disturbed over the report that St Louis has drawn the color line and will not entertain any negro delegates to the Republican national convention

Illinois has no colored men in its delegation, but there are between 3 000 and 4 000 colored voters in the state and party leaders protest against such discrimination

John R Tanner Dr T N Jamieson and Secretary Van Cleave of the state committee who left for St Louis last night will use their best offices to adjust the wrong. Van Cleave declares that if St Louis hotel proprietors do not receive colored brethren the Illinois delegation will tender them its commodious headquarters at Southern Hotel for sleeping rooms

Dr Jamieson threatens to have the convention removed to Chicago if the citizens of St Louis do not extend the glad hand to the colored delegates

IN WALL STREET

Market Ruled Generally Weak

New York June 10 —Wall Street [illegible] The security markets ruled weak and lower this morning owing to liquidation by the tired out holders and sales by professional traders. It was stated that the selling was due to the uncertainty regarding the political situation the platform to be adopted by the Republican convention and especially the currency plank was again the chief topic of discussion. An impression gained ground that concessions will be made to the silver sentiment. Washington during this morning was due to this belief

The engagement of $100 000 gold for shipment to Europe tomorrow and rumors that still larger amounts will be forwarded later in the week on account of the falling off in the supply of security and grain bills also added to the bearish feeling. The decline in prices ranged from ½ to 2 per cent and was most pronounced in specialties like Tennessee Coal, distilling and Pacific mail

Noon—Money on call 1½@2. Prime mercantile paper 4½@5. Sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers bills at 487½ for sixty days and 488½ for demand. Posted rates 488 and 489. Commercial bills 486½@[illegible]. Clearing house statement: Exchanges $80 442 654. Balances $4 541 005

The pressure to sell on the part of timid holders and small traders abated shortly after 11 and the market showed an improving tendency. The rally was equal to ½ per cent in Tennessee Coal and 1 1-8 per cent in the regular list. The advance, however checked trading and the dealings during the second hour of business were on a very limited scale. The break in St Paul attracted the foreign orders and London quite a line of the stock in the neighborhood of 75

LEWISTON MYSTERY

Grenier Will Be Arraigned Today Charged with Murder

LEWISTON, June 10. The coroner's inquest today on the death of Honore Dionne returned a verdict that Dionne came to his death by a blow from the hands of Henry Grenier Sunday night. The jury regarded the evidence as very strong. Mrs Sancier, sister of Grenier, testified that she could not say whether or not it was Dionne who called at her house Sunday, but reiterated her statement that Grenier followed him out and came back in a few minutes, saying "I have knocked him"

Grenier was brought after other witnesses had testified. He denied ever having seen Dionne, but admitted being at Mrs Sancier's when a man called, and to going out after the man had left, but affirmed he did not lay hands on the stranger

Grenier will be arraigned in the police court charged with murder, Thursday morning

CLAIMS SELF DEFENCE

Son of Late President Tyler on Trial for Shooting a Negro.

NEW YORK, June 10. A special from Richmond, Va, says that R. F Tyler, son of the late President John Tylar, was in the public court yesterday, charged with shooting with intent to kill John Carr, a negro. Tyler is a dairyman residing near the city. He went to the assistance of another person who was in a difficulty with Carr and says the shooting was in self defence. The case was sent to the grand jury and Tyler released on bail.

STORIES DENIED

Mr. New Will Not Attend St. Louis Convention.

NEW YORK, June 10. A special from Indianapolis says: The story recently sent to the east that the Columbia Club is going to St. Louis in a body to work for Harrison is erroneous, as is also the story that John C. New, ex-Consul General to London, has gone to St. Louis to manage the anti-McKinley fight. Mr. New will not even attend the convention. There is no move of any sort here to spring General Harrison's name. If this should be done it will come from some outside State. Indiana friends of General Harrison, who were opposed to McKinley, are simply waiting and hoping that the Ohio man may be found too weak to command a nomination.

THE OREGON STRIKE.

Militia Ready to Move at an Hour's Notice.

PORTLAND, Oregon, June 10. Rumors of the movement of the Oregon National Guard, which is ready at an hour's notice to go down the Columbia river among the rioting fishermen, are causing great excitement.

The burning of North Shore Packing Company's plant on the Washington side of the river near Astoria, Monday night, presumably by strikers, is a fresh cause for demanding the presence of the militia and it leaked out that the First Regiment will receive marching orders to go down river on a special boat soon

There is much opposition here to the interference in strike troubles by the militia

CHICAGO, June 10. Shortly after 11 o'clock last night four men knocked on the door of the Cafeteria Catering Co, 46 Lake street, and the watchman thinking they were bakers employed by the company, opened the door and admitted them. Once inside, the men seized and bound the watchman and after gagging him blew open the safe and took therefrom nearly $1 000. To-day is pay day for the employes in the numerous establishments of the Catering Co and the money stolen was part of the sum set apart for that purpose. Those committing the robbery were evidently acquainted with this fact

MAINE MELANGE.

Items of Interest from Different Sections of the State.

Androscoggin.

Thomas Marshall, who gave a policeman a rough and-tumble scrap on Main street, Lewiston, Sunday, found that life was not worth living when he got to the station, and he hanged himself to the railing of the interior four times, three times using his suspenders and once his shirt for the purpose. The deputy marshal discovered him each time and cut him down

A Portland despatch says The G A R veterans of Maine are experiencing some trouble in securing concessions from the railroads to the national encampment at St Paul. No fault is found with the rate, the difficulty being in regard to stop-over privileges on the return trip. The railroad managers have not agreed to grant this favor. The veterans also desire that the tickets be good for thirty days. The decision is anxiously awaited

The convention of the Diocese of Maine met in St Luke's Cathedral, Portland, Wednesday June 10th

Oxford

Uncle David Young, North Paris's ninety-two-years-older, is highly elated over a new tooth that he is cutting. Novogcoarien though he is, Mr Young can do a day's work which would tire many a younger man. This spring he has cut sawed, split and wheeled in five cords of wood beside doing all the chores and lugging the water from a well across the street. He is of medium height, well proportioned, has good eyesight, fairly good hearing and can crunch the hard crust of a piece of baked brown-bread fearlessly. He comes of a family of stayers, too, his brother Nathaniel having just died at Linneus at the age of 101. David, however, encouraged by his dentigerous achievements, hopes to cut his notch several years higher

THE COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION AWARDS

Received by Maine Insane Hospital —Handsome Medal and Diploma of Excellence

Dr B T Sanborn of the Maine Insane Hospital is in receipt of a medal and diploma which is the award of the World's Columbian exposition for the exhibits made by the superintendent. The exhibit included pictures of the buildings, and interiors, with the various wards and also of the farm buildings and animals. A history of the institution and its work was also prepared and placed on exhibition

The medal and diploma are very handsome, and a gratifying award of the excellent institution. The medal is very handsome, of bronze and is inclosed in an aluminum case

The diploma is of elaborate design finely engraved, showing a scene in which the goddess of instruction and progress is presiding over the youth of the country

To Dr. Sanborn, who has for so long been connected with the institution the award is very gratifying. He has been with the institution for over thirty years and has been its superintendent for fourteen years. During that time he has spared no pains for the good of the hospital

The wording of the diploma is as follows

"The United States of America, by act of Congress, have authorized the World's Columbian commission at the international exhibition held in Chicago, Ill. In the year 1893 to decree a medal for specific merit which is set forth below over the name of an individual judge, acting as an examiner upon the finding of a board of international judges, to Augusta hospital, Augusta Me. Exhibit, three charts

"The award was for evidence of good treatment, excellent results for the working of the farm, on which the hospital is situated, and the extent of its usefulness"

Stockton Springs News

Our correspondent writes. The John M Ames Company are receiving, this week a cargo of coal by schooner Willard Saulsbury, of Deer Isle

Mrs Sarah Clifford, who has passed the winter and spring with her daughter Mrs Frank Colcord, in Brooklyn, N Y, returned the past week and has opened her house on Church street

Mrs Cordelia Call, of Gardiner, has been in town a few days calling on old friends. It is rumored that Mr and Mrs. Call may occupy their house on Church street through the winter

Miss Mabel Simmons, one of the teachers at the Normal School in Castine, came Friday, and will spend her vacation with her mother, Mrs R A Simmons, who has lately returned from Massachusetts

Mrs. Eliza, wife of P M Richardson, died June 8th, aged 75 years. Mrs. Richardson has been in poor health for years and her death was not unexpected, but it comes very hard to her aged husband and daughters. She was kind and thoughtful, both as wife and mother. She leaves a brother, Edward Perkins, of Cleveland, Ohio, and two sisters, Mary and Martha Perkins, of Boston. Two daughters, Mrs. Jennie Staples, of Rockland, and Mrs Mattie Maw of Boston. Mrs Richardson has lost several children. Her son Albert was mate of the Mary Celeste, at the time she was abandoned at sea. No word ever came to unravel the mystery of their fate and his loss was a great sorrow

Several of the Masonic brethren went to Winterport Saturday evening to attend a meeting of Howard Lodge. They were royally entertained by the members and are loud in their praise of their entertainers.

Mrs Sprague and son have opened their house on Church street. All are pleased to welcome them.

Married in Boston, June 4th, by Rev. Mr. Wilder, Mrs Esther Hichborn, of Stockton Springs, Maine, and Mr Rufus B Ellingwood, a former resident of Winterport, Maine, but now of Leavenworth, Kansas. Their many friends extend congratulations and wish them years of happiness. Mr and Mrs Ellingwood will reside in Stockton during the summer, and it is to be hoped that they may remain indefinitely, but should Mr Ellingwood's business in the West demand his attention we shall lose them for a time. We should regret very much to lose Mrs. Ellingwood from our midst, as she is counted among the best and would be sadly missed, but we please ourselves with the hope that instead of losing we have gained a valuable citizen. Mr. Ellingwood is a man of integrity and ability and will make many friends here.

Florin Ames, of Brunswick, Georgia, came Thursday to visit old friends and relatives. He is in poor health and came hoping that the change of climate would prove beneficial to him.

CITY AND VICINITY.

The following hearings by the fish commissioners are announced: Farmington, Thursday, Rangeley, Friday, Bemis, Saturday and Camden, Monday

A member of the police force of a Maine city doesn't show the slightest resentment when people say to him "Where did you get that hat?" It is a quite respectable looking palm leaf hat made upon honor in the year 1806. It has had a vast amount of wear in the past ninety years but looks good for ninety years more

The town fathers will find this a seasonable time to ask themselves if the roads in their town are such as to invite the summer visitor to come that way by bicycle or by team. Otherwise, no matter what attractions those communities may possess for the visitor he will be a long time discovering them and after he has done so will hesitate about taking the trouble to enjoy them

At the hearing held on Mount Desert island, at Bar Harbor, the fish and game commissioners prohibited the killing of deer. The petitioners asked that the deer be protected not so much on the ground of their being game, as to make the surroundings attractive to the residents and visitors. A four years law was placed on them, the limit allowed the commissioners by law. Fish like will be protected for two years, from the taking of salmon. There were recently a lot put in the lake, and they will be given a chance to grow

WILD LANDS

Assessors Have Visited Four of Eight Wild Lands Counties

Up to date, this season the State assessors have attended to four of the eight wild lands counties. Four of the largest, and over half of the work has been done. The counties which have been visited are Aroostook, Somerset, Piscataquis and Penobscot. The assessors will at once start for Oxford, Washington, Hancock and Franklin. There will be a meeting with the wild land owners of Franklin county at Farmington, next Tuesday

The question of equalizing assessed valuations of wild lands is an interesting one, says the Kennebec Journal. It is by some of the owners asserted that the lands depreciate in value by cutting, but this is by no means always the case the assessors say, because the timber land often reaches a stage when by cutting a chance is given the remaining trees to grow all the better for it which by not cutting the forest would show no growth. In substantiation of this a case is noted of a wild lands owner who has sold $40 000 worth of timber from his land during the past four years and at the meeting held a few days ago made no claim whatever for a reduction in the assessed valuation

The value of the timber land in many sections has changed during the past two years. Fires last summer, made great inroads in certain sections and the results are almost permanent. In the spring, fires may pass over and do comparatively little damage on account of the dampness in the under brush, but, in summer when all this moss is dry the fire clears away the section, and brings complete devastation. Blow downs too make great changes in the timberlands. Yet some of the tornadoes make paths through the trees and it leaves an awful sight. The tree make veritable blockades and a passage is obtained only by a cutting away that breaks the owners heart and likewise their profits

In one section of Washington county there is a lot of land that for forty years hasn't increased in value four cents an acre. It has not been cut and with little sunshine it just about holds its own. As fast as trees grow up others die as in the case of some populations and there it stands

On the other hand there have been some marked increases in timber land where railroads have been built. Especially is this noted along the Ashland branch of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad. In many other places lumber railroads have been shot into the hearts of forests, and there, of course values take a rise. Also in other cases surveys have been made showing up the value of the lands where they were not before known

Chief of Police L. W. Gilman while on his way to Boston Tuesday participated in a successful lost boy finding. For several days a Bangor man named Patten has been searching for his boy who ran away from home and it was thought that the boy had gone to Boston but advices from that city indicated that he had not arrived there. It was certain, however, that he had left on the Boston steamer and his father went down the river to look for him taking the same steamer with Chief Gilman. When Tuesday's up boat from Boston arrived at Bucksport a boy got off to the wharf and proceeded to cross the river, from which point he returned with another lad. The two hung around the wharf until the down boat came along, when they boarded her, evidently bound for Boston. They went aboard the steamer just as she left the wharf and but one of them got to Boston unseen. The other was the Patten boy, who had been in hiding on the farther side of the river, and Chief Gilman, who was looking out for the youngest, caught him and turned him over to his father, who took him home by train.

The Prism.

The Maine State College Prism, issued by the class of '97 is just out and as usual, is a work of much interest and merit. The literary portion of the book is a great credit to the editors and the make up to C. H. Glass & Co., the widely known printers of Bangor. It is slightly larger than last year's Prism with about the same number of pages.

The cover is red with some yellow, the class colors. There are many cuts, all of which were designed by the members of the class, ten excellent half tone views, including society plates, the editors, the trustees and a fine likeness of Prof. W. H. Jordan, who goes to a New York experiment station. Space is given to the society houses, the four classes, the Colburn Cadets, athletics and the customary grinds, which are very amusing. It is a Prism of which the editors, members of the class and printers can well feel proud.

Eames—Brown.

At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John Mally, 32 Webster av., there was a very pleasant wedding at eleven o'clock Wednesday morning, when Miss Maud Brown was united in marriage to Mr. C. B. Eames by Rev. H. E. Foss, of the First M. E. church, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The bride and bridegroom are well and favorably known in Bangor. The presents were numerous and handsome. Mr. and Mrs. Eames left on the 1.40 train for Boston. On their return to this city they will reside on Webster avenue.

WEBSTER RECEPTION.

Brilliant Society Event at Orono on Wednesday.

A Large Number of Guests Entertained in Delightful Manner.

An Occasion Long to be Remembered with the Greatest Pleasure.

There have been many brilliant and highly enjoyable receptions, dances and various social functions which have been long remembered with a great deal of pleasure in this city and vicinity, but it will be no disparagement to any other event to state that the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Alden P. Webster at their elegant home in Orono last evening was decidedly the one to which the superlative rightfully applies. It was complete in every particular and detail. Nothing that good taste could conceive and ingenuity execute was lacking and the result was an event the like of which has perhaps never been equalled in this section and may never be surpassed.

Instead of having a number of "at home" days after their wedding Mr. and Mrs. Webster gave this large reception, issuing hundreds of invitations to friends in Bangor, Orono and other places. Several special cars were run on the Bangor, Orono and Oldtown electric road to carry the people of this city who desired to attend, while many drove to Orono.

Arriving at the charming residence in Orono the guests found it brilliantly illuminated and a cordial welcome for each. Wraps were laid aside in the dressing rooms on the second floor and the guests were presented to the receiving party by the ushers, Dr. Eugene B. Sanger, Mr. William W. Palmer and Mr. Stanley P. Dennett. The receiving party consisted of Mr. Eben C. Webster, Mrs. Alden P. Webster, Mr. Webster and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin M. Cram, of New York, the parents of the bride.

The bride's gown was heavy white satin. Mrs. Cram wore a beautiful blue silk. The gowns of the guests were also beautiful creations of art.

Pullen's orchestra stationed in the library furnished the inspiring and delightful music which always characterizes that tuneful organization. Early in the evening dancing was begun on a floor built especially for the occasion on the easterly side of the house, surrounded by evergreen trees, palms and other green growth, the whole being enclosed by a high canvas wall.

The dancing space was not covered in and the scene there was like a jump into fairyland. Words utterly fail to give an idea of the entrancing picture out doors with the merry dancers whirling about to music which would set a graven image dancing. Electric lights, some with colored globes, illuminated a scene which will never be forgotten by those so fortunate as to be present. Evergreen trees enclosed the floor, which was large enough to allow of scores of people dancing at the same time. In the house and on the large veranda on the westerly side of the house, Florist Moses had decorated in a very artistic manner, palms and beautiful flowers being used with the best of taste to produce an effect which was most pleasing. Colored lights gave a pretty glow on the veranda.

In the dining room supper was served during the hours of reception by Mrs. Mary Smith Lutz, the caterer, assisted by a corps of assistants who attended to the guests very capably. The supper was quite in keeping with the other arrangements for the pleasure of the guests and it was one of the many features thoroughly appreciated and enjoyed.

It was a late hour when the last guest had departed. All went with the greatest reluctance, so thorough had been the enjoyment of the evening and it was only for very shame that the people tore themselves away. The return of the Bangor guests was by special electric cars, barges, hacks and other conveyances.

Fortunately the weather was favorable for the pleasant occasion, although Tuesday night and even yesterday forenoon it looked extremely dubious. The air was cool and the delightful exercise of dancing in the open air was invigorating.

Among the guests besides those already mentioned were Mr. and Mrs. Weston F. Milliken and Miss Marion Webster, of Portland; Mr. Charles J. Kershaw, of Duluth, Minn.; Mr. W. W. Case, of Rockland.

A RISING BANGOR YOUNG MAN.

Mr. Frank A. Bourne's Ideas Upon the Development of Boston as a Commercial Center.

The Boston Herald of Wednesday in an illustrated article of nearly two columns has the following concerning Mr. Frank A. Bourne, of this city, son of Mr. A. L. Bourne, and a young man of marked ability and promise:

The development of Boston as a commercial center has been a subject of careful consideration from many points of view. The latest, and in some respects the most interesting and unique consideration of the subject, is presented by Mr. Frank A. Bourne, S. B., a post-graduate student of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who yesterday received the advance degree of M. S. The thesis which he presented for the degree was a study for the architectural improvement of the water front of Boston harbor, illustrated by a design for a free port for Boston.

It reviewed what had been done in this direction in foreign cities, and the scheme presented embraced ideas for the embellishment of water fronts in general.

In opening his thesis Mr. Bourne alluded to the general architectural defects of American seaboard cities in this respect, and the general feeling that their improvement is desirable, as tending to impress the observer with the commercial importance of the port, as well as to serve the more practical purpose of commercial development. In studying such a problem, he says, the architect, who is the leading agent in the work, needs the assistance of the civil engineer and the landscape architect.

The first essential, he goes on to say, is a summary of the necessary features of the preliminary plan which should embrace all the topographic and landscape features of the existing location and surroundings, and may be either by chart or contour map, or by model, the architect bearing in mind the fact that the requirement is for an architecture of mass rather than of detail, that the buildings may be seen at a distance as often as close at hand.

The thesis presented brief descriptions, with maps, of numerous foreign ports, with comments on their distinctive features, both ancient and modern.

The most interesting examples of recent maritime architecture, Mr. Bourne says, are found in the so-called free ports which have been established within the last decade. Hamburg has had such a port since the middle ages, and when the North German federation was founded in 1867, the free port portions of Hamburg and Bremen remained outside; the cities and their environs, and the rivers Elbe and Weser, with their tributaries, for some distance above and below the towns, remaining "excepted." ESTEEMED CITIZEN GONE.

Death of Mr. Gilman Cram on Wednesday.

The announcement of the death of Mr. Gilman Cram, which occurred on Wednesday, will be received with sorrow by a host of friends, who have long esteemed him for his many sterling qualities. He was one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of Bangor and in his death the community has sustained a loss.

Mr. Cram had been in remarkably good health for a man of his advanced years until a few months ago, when he began to fail. He attended to his business as usual, however, until about three weeks ago when he took a severe cold. His condition was not regarded as dangerous until yesterday forenoon, when the members of the family were summoned to his bedside.

He passed peacefully away at 10.45 o'clock surrounded by his family, at the age of 85 years.

Mr. Cram was born in Francistown, N. H., on June 21, 1811, and in that town passed his youthful years, until he found employment, as a young man, in Boston. In 1844 he moved to Bangor and became a bookkeeper for Pendleton & Ross, the well known old firm of ship chandlers and tug-boat managers. Afterwards Mr. Cram engaged in the lumber business, his particular line being manufacturing, which he carried on in Bradley and in Brewer.

In recent years Mr. Cram had conducted a commission business. He was a sworn sealer and surveyor and for fifty consecutive years was a notary public. From 1850 to 1885 he was an a most constant attendant at the First Parish church. Ever since the organization of the Republican party he had been a sterling and staunch Republican.

Mr. Cram had been one of the prominent business men of Bangor and was very highly respected by all with whom he came in contact. He was an excellent example of what good and regular habits of life will do for a person, for his 85 years sat as lightly upon him as the years of many men twenty and even thirty years younger.

Mr. Cram leaves a wife and four children to mourn his loss. He was married early in life to Mrs. Elizabeth Linnell, and to them were born seven children. Charles, William and Fred are deceased and Mary, Alice, Mrs. Charles Gould and Mr. Franklin W. Cram survive him. The sympathy of their many friends will be extended to them in their bereavement.

The funeral services will be held on Friday at 2.30 P. M. at the family residence on Pine street.

Mr. Brydon Spencer.

A correspondent writes: After an illness of five months and suffering the most excruciating pain, Mr. Brydon Spencer, of Lincoln, passed away peacefully at a recent date. Mr. Spencer was born in Howland but with his parents moved to the town of Enfield when but a boy. When a young man he went to Milford to seek employment and in that place felt his country's need in the day of peril, volunteered and went to the front. He saw years of hard service. Mr. Spencer was 67 years old. He had been a great sufferer for the past fourteen years but was patient amid it all. He was a member of Joe Hooker Post, No. 86, and very much loved and esteemed by his comrades. Through all those years of suffering his noble, loving wife stood by him and took the best of care of him. She has in her deep sorrow the sympathy of all the community. The burial services were held from his late residence in Lincoln village, Rev. Mr. McDougall, of Montague, officiating. The burial was under the direction of Joe Hooker Post, No. 86, G. A. R., whose members were out in large numbers out of respect to the comrade whom they loved so dearly. He was a life long Republican and believed thoroughly in its principles.

FALL RIVER vs. BANGOR.

Another Series of Home Ball Games To be Inaugurated To-day.

The Fall Rivers and Bangors will arrive in the city this morning and this afternoon at 2.30 another series of home ball games will begin. The game will be called earlier than usual in order to accommodate an excursion party which is coming to the city. The New Bedford-Bangor game at New Bedford yesterday was postponed owing to rain.

It is probable that Wheeler will pitch to-day for Bangor and either Stevens or Klobedanz for Fall River. George Moore is sick and has been sent to his home in Cambridge. Henry will play third until the position is again filled by a regular third baseman and Roach will probably play in the outfield to-day, a position with which he is well acquainted.

During the Massachusetts trip the Bangors won 3 games and lost 3, two being postponed by rain. This is good work and as much as is expected from any team when away from home. There are some fine games coming this week and next week and the crowds should be large as the contests will be exciting ones. Only a few games separate the three leaders Fall River, Pawtucket and Bangor and a few wins for Bangor will put her in first place again.

One of the queerest combinations which ever occurred in Maine college base ball has come about in the past week. When Bates beat Bowdoin last week they thought they had won the championship sure as the only two remaining games in the schedule with Colby and M. S. C. were regarded as absolutely certain victories for Bates. Consequently last week Bates celebrated with a procession, fire works, etc.

Last Saturday the Bates M. S. C. game was played at Orono, and the unexpected happened by M. S. C. winning, 15 to 8. The Bates men were a little worried by the defeat but thought they were sure of yesterday's game with Colby at Waterville, as Colby has been beaten by about everybody this year. Again the unexpected happened and Colby won, 7 to 6.

This leaves Bates and Bowdoin tied for the championship, each having won 4 and lost 2. An extra game will have to be played and it will probably occur on neutral territory. The Bowdoin team has been out of training for an entire week and consequently will be at a disadvantage but will get into the best possible shape for the game which will decide the championship.

It will be a contest worth going many miles to see, just for the excitement and enthusiasm of the crowd of students on both sides. The game will probably be played within a week upon grounds satisfactory to both teams.

Paul Radford has a batting percentage of 305.

Portland played its first errorless game Saturday.

Capt. Slater, of Portland, stole his 25th base Saturday.

In five games last week Manager Smith of Pawtucket made 17 hits, with 26 totals.

Lewiston has released Pettee. McDonald is slated to take his place as player and captain, it is reported.

Whiting has batted safely in 22 consecutive games, and in them has made 12 hits, with 62 totals.

In seven games Geier of Fall River has made 17 hits, with 29 totals, including a double, five triples and a home run.

Lyons, of Fall River, has made 11 hits, with a total of 16, in the last four games, and 17 hits, with a total of 25 in the last eight. His batting average is .333.

Pitcher Wheeler has made 13 hits, with a total of 21, in his last five games, and has a batting percentage of .451, with a total of .574. He has pitched in nine winning games out of 12.

Manager Burnham has signed a new third baseman in the person of James Healey, who was with the Minneapolis team in the Western League. Great things are expected of him.

Manager Leonard is as happy as a school boy carrying water to the elephant when his team is ahead, but resembles a bear in a trap when he is getting the short end.—New Bedford Journal.
